INTRODUCTION •

The Nature Center Demonstration Gardens are located at the Boone County Environmental and Nature Center. This garden is used by the horticulture department where Northern Kentucky Master Gardeners can volunteer as part of Dig Day.

This 1-acre garden and orchard located on the property are used to teach hands-on programs such as Evenings in the Garden, the Power of Flowers, best gardening practices, how to raise cut flowers, best vegetable varieties, and lots more.

Thousands of pounds of fresh produce are grown every year from the garden and donated to local food banks providing healthy, nutritional food to many of our neighbors in need.
